KITSON'S STATUE OF GEN. TILGHMAN PLEASES CRITICS

Regarded as One of His Best in Conception, Spirit and Execution.

He Excels Other Americans
in Truth.

HOW THE FIGURE WAS CAST.

New York, May 10.—On the 15th of May the monument of General Lloyd Tilghman, by the well known Boston sculptor H. H. Kitson, will be unveiled at Paducah, Ky.

Aside of the local interest and pride a thriving Kentucky town may take in the commemoration of one of its great citizens, the monument itself should attract wide and general attention. The artist interpreted his subject with such truth and reality, in such an original and distinct style, that it has been pronounced by all who have seen it in his studio as being one of the finest portrait statues ever made in this country. A man must travel far to see another monument of the same intrinsic value.

Of heroic size, nine feet high and cast in bronze, it represents the general in field uniform, in top boots, leather gaiters, with field glasses slung across his shoulder. The right hand is supported by the belt, while the other holding his slouched hat, is drawn close up to the body and rests on the sword. The left foot is slightly advanced. The figure makes the impression of simplicity and dignity. The face is stern and expresses courage and defiance, characteristic of a man that braved so many dangers.

American sculptors are apt to treat their portrait statues either in too rigid a manner or to exaggerate the picturesque possibilities. In St. Gaudens' figures there is always a strange frigidity in attitude and movement, while Paul Bartlett frequently oversteps the limits of pictorial treatment by introducing all sorts of unnecessary flourishes. Kitson avoids both. There are no unnecessary embellishments, no attempts at idealization. It is strictly a realistic representation, but told as beautifully as it is possible to a figure garbed in the prosaic dress of modern times. He wants first of all to represent the character of the man, and then imbue his form with as much vitality and animation as can be introduced without losing the naturalness of the general aspect. Kitson's figures are all conceived in his solid masses, they stand naturally and firmly on their feet without any artificial support, indicating massiveness and strength.

Kitson's Lofly Idea.
Kitson has given us a fresh view of the beauty of sculpture. He always strives to represent the plastic expression of some lofty idea. He declines to give us the empty form, the "simple well-made statue." Each of his works must grip the attention, and charm not alone by its beauty of execution but also by its deeper end and more subtle qualities, like thought, inventiveness and poetic feeling, which give intense and constant pleasure to those who can appreciate them. The fear of spoiling the big effects by carrying details to a high finish is a thing unknown to him. He possesses the capacity to remain broad and great while modelling with remarkable skill and facility, and an impeccable touch the most delicate details. Thus every statue from the hands of Kitson displays an attempt to achieve an enviable perfection, a result that harmoniously combines the accomplishments of conception and execution in an equal measure. And it is in his General Tilghman that the art of H. H. Kitson has found one of its finest expressions.

General Tilghman.
General Tilghman was, as every Kentuckian knows, one of the great heroes of the Confederate war. He was one of the descendants of one of the best known families in Maryland and followed the profession of railroad engineering at Paducah when the war broke out. He was the commander of Fort Henry when it was attacked jointly by General Grant's army of 27,000 men and Commodore Foote's fleet of seven gun-boats. General Tilghman's little army consisted only of 2,000 men. Not wishing to sacrifice them as defeat was certain he ordered four-fifths of his troops to retreat to Fort Donelson and with a remainder fought the invading army for hours. Later on he took part in the defense of Vicksburg as a brigadier general of Loring's division, and lost his life by a cannon ball in one of the most violent encounters of the war, the battle of Champion Hills, May 15, 1863.

President Taft Tells Congress Porto Ricans Have Been Granted Their Self-Government Too Soon

in His Message and Declares Islanders Do Not Appreciate This Country.

Washington, May 10.—In a vigorous message sent to congress today, the president expressed the opinion that the United States has gone too far in the extension of the powers of self government of the people of Porto Rico. He recommends certain modifications in the act, which provides for the administration of affairs in the island. This is due to the failure of the legislative assembly in the island to make proper appropriations to meet the expenses of government.

"In the desire of certain of their leaders for political power the Porto Ricans forgot the generosity of the United States in its dealings with them," the message says. "The present development is only an indication that we have gone too far in the extension of political power to them for their good."

President Taft censured unsparingly the action of the house of delegates of the island in refusing to pass appropriation bills for the coming year, and suggests the desirability of taking from the lower body of Porto Rican assembly the power thus to hamper the government of the island.

Beveridge Arouses Aldrich.
Washington, May 10.—At the opening of the senate tariff debate today there was a clash between Beveridge and Aldrich. Beveridge complained that several times the finance committee failed to supply the senate with satisfactory information regarding the schedule. Aldrich responded hotly.

Jeffries' progress through the streets was like that of a conqueror. Crowds lined the sidewalks and cheered the "hope of the white race." As he passed, "I have seen the play Johnson is making about coming and demanding a definite answer. I don't care to have anything to do with him, except as a prize fighter," Jeffries declared.

MANY BAPTISTS PURPOSE GOING TO LOUISVILLE

To Attend Southern Baptist Convention Which Opens
There Thursday.

Six Thousand People Will Be in Attendance.

FOURTEEN STATES EMBRACED.

Paducah Baptists will be well represented at the Southern Baptist convention, which opens at Louisville next Thursday. Those who are going from the first church are R. L. Eley, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Puryear, Miss Courtie Puryear, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Bobout, Mrs. Frank Wahl, Mrs. Lena Hookhammer, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Graham, A. M. Rouse and the Rev. M. E. Dodd.

There are 20,000 Baptist churches in the convention with a membership of 2,015,050. There will be between 6,000 and 8,000 messengers and visitors present in Louisville. The messengers are apportioned on a financial basis, one being allowed for each $250 given to home and foreign missions. The first church of Paducah is entitled to seven messengers.

Hon. Joshua Levering, of Baltimore, is the president.

The Southern Baptist convention is in no sense a legislative body. Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia and a portion of the Baptist of the District of Columbia will be represented with a total membership in 1908 of 2,015,050, in which Texas, Georgia and Kentucky hold the first three places in point of numbers.

The convention was organized at Augusta, Ga., in 1845. There will be several distinct departments of the convention—the Laymen's Movement, the Baptist Educational society of the South; the church as a whole; the Baptist Young People's Union and the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary. Separate meetings will be held, the entire field in each case gone over, and then a general meeting is expected to solidify and make uniform the several interests in the south as well as to establish a line of communication and co-work with the members of the church north of the Ohio river.

The Broadway Baptist church, of Louisville, for a long time presided over by the Rev. Carter Helm Jones, whose father was chaplain general of the United Confederate Veterans, Norton hall and the First Regiment Armory, will be the central meeting place, and here addresses by well known men from all parts of the country will be heard.

Among those scheduled to speak are: The Rev. Dr. E. Y. Mullins, of Louisville; Joshua Levering, of Baltimore; ex-Gov. W. J. Norther, of Georgia; ex-Gov. Long, of Mississippi; H. G. Lowrey, Blue Mountain, Miss.; J. Campbell Whites, New York; Joseph N. Shonstone, Toronto; J. H. Tucker, Asheville, N. C.; J. H. Henderson, Bristol, Va.; S. Paece, Monticello, Fla.; the Rev. B. D. Gray, Atlanta, Ga.; the Rev. W. Hamilton, Atlanta, Ga.; the Rev. Dr. Caleb A. Ridley, Beaumont, Texas; the Rev. J. M. Frost, Nashville, Tenn.; the Rev. Dr. O. C. S. Wallace, Baltimore; W. E. Stephens, Columbia, Mo.; Dr. John R. Sarnpey, Louisville; the Rev. T. B. Ray, Richmond, Va.; R. H. Coleman, Dallas, Texas; the Rev. C. W. Duke, Tampa, Fla.; and Arthur Yager, Georgetown, Ky.

President E. Y. Mullins, of Louisville, will welcome the delegates, and the Rev. Dr. E. C. Dargan, of Macon, Ga., will preach the introductory sermon.

On the morning of May 14 the reports of the following three convention boards will be received: Home Mission Board, the Rev. Dr. B. D. Gray, of Atlanta, Ga., corresponding secretary; Foreign Mission Board, the Rev. Dr. R. J. Williamson, of Richmond, Va., corresponding secretary; Sunday School Board, the Rev. Dr. J. M. Frost, of Nashville, Tenn.

To Unveil Portrait.
One of the features of the convention will be the unveiling of a new portrait of Dr. James P. Boyce, first president of the Southern Baptist Theological seminary, which has been presented to the seminary by the daughters of Dr. Boyce, the Misses Elizabeth, Fannie and Lucy Boyce, all of Washington, D. C.

Not the least important of the side conventions that are to be held during the great gathering will be that of that Woman's Missionary Union of the south of which Mrs. W. H. Matlack, of Louisville, is secretary. The silver jubilee of the Southern Baptist Theological seminary will be celebrated tomorrow.

Kidnaper Boyle is Sentenced For Life and His Wife Twenty Years in Penitentiary—Would Kill Selves

Woman Almost Collapses and Admits She Swallowed
Drug—Razor Found Concealed by Man.

Mercer, May 10.—Boyle was given a life sentence today for kidnaping Willie Whitley. Mrs. Boyle was given twenty-five years.

Attorney Miller spoke for both prisoners, but his plea for mercy was vain. He said Boyle treated Billy with kindness, nor was there anything in the letters to gear his parents' anxiety. He said the punishment for second degree murder was less than that assessed for kidnaping. Neither of the prisoners made any statements after being sentenced. Mrs. Boyle was also fined $5,000.

Mrs. Boyle stood stiffly erect while she heard the sentence. Outside the court room she stayed into the arms of a guard and seemed about to faint. In the cell she broke down and wept hysterically. The crowd in the court room heard the sentence without demonstration.

A careful scheme on the part of Boyle and his wife to cheat justice was frustrated today when a razor was found in the lining of Boyle's tie. Mrs. Boyle admits frankly she took enough morphine to kill two people and it didn't have the desired result. They are to be taken to the penitentiary as soon as possible, the sheriff says.

The only comment J. P. Whitley made was: "I am glad it's over." In his charge Judge Williams said the kidnaping aged the father 20 years. Whitley looked ill.

The thieves had remained outside the house, and with a long pole had fished out clothes and then searched them. The robbery was reported to the police.

ENGINEER'S BODY RECOVERED FROM THE CUMBERLAND

The body of Engineer Harry Rearden, who was drowned on the steamer Concrete Sunday afternoon, May 2, near Kuttawa, was found yesterday morning about 6 o'clock, floating on the Cumberland river about 300 yards below where he drowned. Mr. Dooms, a timberman, discovered Rearden's body and he immediately telephoned to this city. Capt. E. A. Ault left this port yesterday morning at 10:30 o'clock in the launch Cutaway III and returned last night shortly before 12 o'clock with the body of Rearden. The body was turned over to Nance & Rogers, undertakers, and prepared for burial.

Cochran May Recover

Hopes are held out by physicians for the recovery of Wesley Cochran, a farmer of Lynville, Graves county, who was injured on a freight train Saturday night. His right hand was amputated while his skull was fractured, and his scalp was cut in several places. Cochran went to the Union station Saturday night, but missed the fast passenger train, and with two companions started around the curve for the stub yards. Cochran says he failed to see manifest freight, No. 154, approaching, and was run down. At first it was thought that Cochran was a railroad employe and the ambulance of the Illinois Central railroad was sent, but his identity was learned and he was carried to Riverside hospital. Cochran is 35 years old.

STR. GEORGIA LEE IS TO BE RAISED WITHOUT DELAY

Robert E. Lee Makes Arrangements to Secure Divers at Once.

Big Boat Slipped Off Marine
Ways Saturday.

HIG HORN MADE IN HER BOWS.

Charles Brockman, a marine diver from the south, arrived this morning and this afternoon about 3:30 o'clock he made the first investigation of the hole that was knocked in the hull of the Georgia Lee when she sank off the marine ways. The insurance companies, which have insured the boat, have charge of the raising of her. Several other divers have been sent word to come immediately and the divers are expected to arrive tonight or tomorrow some time. Capt. Clyde Howard, of Jeffersonville, Ind., and one of the members of the Howard Ship Yards company, arrived in the city this morning.

A survey of the boat will be made in the next few days and immediately after the survey the work of raising the boat will be started. The damage to the boat and to the ways can not be estimated till after the boat is raised. Large crowds have been visiting the river front all day and hundreds of pictures of the sunken boat were snapped.

The Accident.

The Georgia Lee fell off the marine ways Saturday afternoon about 4 o'clock, sustaining a great hole in her bows and sinking in a few minutes in 32 feet of water. She was lifted out of the water her bow pointing up the Tennessee and her stern down, when the cable of the crane under her stern parted and one by one the other cradles let go, excepting the one under her bow. As the first cradle gave way the 1,200 ton steamer's stern struck the water and settled hard around close to shore. She listed threateningly and had not the crane under her bows given way she would have been thrown completely on her side a total loss. When the crane under her bows broke it thrust a great hole in her hull and she righted herself and swung around until her nose pointed down stream. She settled so rapidly that the crew, who rushed down to stop the hole, were compelled to clamber up from deck to keep ahead of the water, which is now almost up to the roof.

The accident is said to have been unavoidable.

Mate Whit Nelson called to the Harth to assist and the Harth hurried to the side of the distressed steamer, but was of no avail.

Besides the mate, the crew consisted of First Engineer Evert Hicks, Second Engineer Baker Heynolds, Carpenter W. O. Pritchard and Watchman Frank Vallendingham. They stood by the boat and did all in their power to stay the catastrophe. Capt. Robert E. Lee was called from Memphis and arrived Sunday morning and Captain Howard, of the shipyards at Jeffersonville, also arrived Sunday.

LIGHTNING CONFUSES

THE FIRE ALARM SYSTEM.
Lightning struck the fire alarm system of the fire department yesterday afternoon, and a live wire fell across a wire at Ninth and Washington streets, and crippled the service last night. Early this morning Chief Wood had men working on the lines and soon had the apparatus in working order. No damage was done to the system, although a few batteries were burned out.

BIDS OPENED FOR DOUBLE VAULT IN ENGINEER'S ROOM

Bids for the erection of a double vault in the office of the street inspector and the city engineer's office were opened Saturday afternoon. City Engineer Washington will recommend to the general improvement committee, which will meet tonight to place the contract, that Contractor George H. Welkel be given the contract at $532. Mr. Welkel's bid includes repairs to the present office in addition to the vault, which will make the office more modern.

A Promise to Pay

Would you accept a stranger's note? No. Then why accept from a stranger any other promise to pay? A fire insurance policy is such a promise. Ought you to accept it without knowing all about the company? Your usual business confidence is based on knowledge. Why make an exception in that part of your business which deals with insurance? A name is worth nothing on any kind of a promise to pay unless it is backed by character and resources.

We favor insurance knowledge, particularly about our companies. Their promises to pay have never gone to protest. Their obligations to its policy holders are backed with such a good reputation and such ample financial resources that the more you know about them the more you will want protection by their policies.

BOXING GAME ON THE BOOM

Philadelphia's Jack O'Brien to Meet Johnson.

Ketchel and Langford in July—Driscoll and Attell Will Clash for Featherweight Title.

MANY OTHER MATCHES ARE ON

New York, May 10.—According to Jack Johnson's latest recorded mind the match with Stanley Ketchel stands, the big black having concluded, so he says that Jeffries does not mean business, but has announced his willingness to fight again purely for theatrical purposes.

Johnson is quoted as saying that Jeffries is bluffing and will never enter the ring again; that if Jeffries really intended to make a match he would sign articles and post the necessary forfeits without further delay, or would at least agree verbally upon the exact date for a mill. Johnson has been so severely scored for dodging Sam Langford that he says now he intends to convince the sporting public that he is a real champion and that he will meet all his challengers in due time. Johnson has clinched a six-round bout with Philadelphia's Jack O'Brien, to be decided in Quakertown on May 19, and will sail a few days later for England and France.

While on the other side Johnson, according to his own statements, will be ready to make matches with the winner of a fight between Sam Langford and Joe Jeannette, or with Ian Hoggan, the new English heavyweight champion, provided the latter defeats Langford.

Hot Scrap for July.

In the meantime Ketchel intends to take on Sam Langford for ten rounds at Los Angeles in July. Willis Britt has accepted the offer of $10,000 guarantee, win, lose or draw, from Promoter McCarey, in behalf of Ketchel, and the latter has decided to leave for the coast about the middle of May. Joe Goodman, Langford's manager has also accepted terms, and says that he will cut short his coming trip to Europe in order to get back in time for a mill that he has been trying to clinch for nearly a year.

Kaufman has planned to be in France in July and will try to force Johnson to give up his promise to make a match there. Should either Langford or Kaufman get a crack at Johnson on the other side of the Atlantic it is believed that the big negro would be extremely lucky to escape defeat and that if his colors should be lowered he would, with Ketchel would see much of its present interest.

Track Feathers to Meet.

Promoter Coffroth, it is understood, has arranged a 15-round battle between Jim Driscoll and Abe Attell for the featherweight championship of the world, to be decided at Colma on Thanksgiving Day. It is said the men will fight for 50 per cent of the gate receipts, which may reach the $30,000 mark. Just what weight will govern the mill is not known just now, but the belief is prevalent that the little pugilists will scale at 122 pounds five or six hours before the ring time. Driscoll has decided to cut short his theatrical engagements in England and will return to this country in June. He writes that he will be ready to meet all comers in short bouts during the summer months, and will then begin training for the battle with Attell. It is predicted that Driscoll and Attell will provide one of the most sensational contests between featherweights the world has ever seen, and opinions already differ as to the outcome.

MUST BELIEVE IT.

When Well-known Paducah People Tell It So Plainly.

When public endorsement is made by a representative citizen of Paducah the proof is positive. You must believe it. Read this testimony. Every backache sufferer, every man, woman or child with any kidney trouble will find profit in the reading.

W. H. Smith, 1012 S. Fourth St., Paducah, Ky., says: "My back troubled me for years and often ached so severely that I had to lie down. I could not get up without help and though I received some relief from the plaster and remedies I tried, the trouble always returned again in a short time as severe as ever. One day I noticed Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and I procured a box at DuBois Son & Co's drug store. I used them as directed and in about a week I was able to go about my work as usual. The lameness in my back and shoulders disappeared and my kidneys were soon performing their work in a natural way." (Statement given in 1909.)

Cured to Stay Cured.
On February 18, 1907, Mr. Smith said: "I take pleasure in again endorsing Doan's Kidney Pills as I do not believe they have an equal for curing kidney complaint. I have not had an attack of this trouble since 1909."

BASEBALL YARNS.

A Play in Baseball That Came Near Beating the Chicago White Sox Out of the Pennant.

A play suggested by Hugh S. Fullerton, the baseball expert is recounted by him in his article entitled "The Fine Points of Baseball" in the May American Magazine.

"A few years ago a play suggested by me came near beating the Chicago White Stockings out of the American League pennant. 'Dutch' Schaefer and I, with several other players, were forthrightly one evening in Chicago 'talking shop' as usual, and to promote discussion, I was lamenting the lack of inventiveness and ingenuity in the later generations of ball players. 'Why,' I said to clinch the argument, 'today three of you fellows let Altrick sneak strikes over on you. After he had done it once why didn't a batter wink up to the plate, pretend not to be watching, and when he tried that quick straight ball slam it out of the lot?'"

"At that time Chicago was fighting desperately for the pennant and every game counted. It looked as if one defeat would mean the loss of the championship. The next afternoon, in the ninth inning, with the score 1 to 0 in favor of Chicago, Schaefer, who had been crippled, was sent to bat. An he came slouching up to the plate, carrying his bat in his hand and pretending not to be watching the pitcher at all, I hastily regretted the argument of the previous evening. Schaefer actually turned his head away, and 'Doc' White, thinking he saw an opening, drove a fast straight ball over the plate. Schaefer waked up, mauling that ball clear into the left field bleachers, drove home a runner ahead of him and beat Chicago 2 to 1. I didn't dare tell Conlisky about that argument until the pennant was won."

BASEBALL NEWS

J. Phivus Yesterday.

Baseball bugs had a regular old-fashioned New England Sunday yesterday as far as the national game was concerned. Old Jupiter Phivus had the entire day for his own, and he was the entire game, although the weather did take part by turning colder. The game with the Heroin, Ill., team and Lloyd's Indians was postponed until May 30, as the diamond was a regular pond. The Illinois team arrived at 11 o'clock yesterday morning, but returned in the afternoon.

The Indians had to draw on their bank account yesterday owing to the Heroin team making the trip. Chief Lloyd is anxious that the fans turn out at the remaining games, as the team desires to purchase new suits. Next Sunday the Carbondale, Ill., team will hold the boards, and May 23 the Bloomer Girls team will play. Tuesday, May 20, the Indians will play the Cherokee Indians. A game will be played in the afternoon and a second game at night, as the park will be illuminated.

Amateur teams had to postpone games yesterday, too, as the vacant lots were too wet to play ball. The Red Sox team went to Metropolis yesterday to fill an engagement with the Metropolis Blues, but the game was called. Next Sunday the Metropolis team will come to Paducah.

Saturday afternoon the Wallerstein team trimmed the High school team by a score of 8 to 2. Mercer and Mercer were the battery for the Wallerstein nine, while List, Sutherland and Enrlas did the work for High school.

A CHANCE FOR YOU

What are you doing with your money? Are you lamenting the fact that you cannot buy Goldfield Cons. or Dakota Homestake stock because it has gone out of your reach? Do you remember that Goldfield Mohawk was once offered to you at ten cents, and that there are other Mohawks to be developed?

The Jolly Jane at Pioneer

Was the first lease to start work in that lizanza camp after the Pioneer lease opened up "picture rack", and promises to be a second Pioneer lease. The Pioneer lease is shipping 150 tons of $100 rock per day. It has also months to run yet. Figure what the holders of its stock will realize during the next nine months. The Jolly Jane shaft is now down 60 feet, and is in values better than $31 per ton in gold. Indications are that the shaft is dropping down on top of a huge ledge similar to that in the Pioneer lease—and both leases are on the same big vein system. Now we are offering the first block of treasury stock—50,000 shares—in 1,000-share lots, at

7½ Cents Per Share

Or we will sell you this stock in 1,000 share blocks at 8 cents per share, paying for each 1,000-share block you take at the rate of $20 down and $20 per month for three months. When we prove up the ore shoot the stock cannot be bought for less than 15 cents, and we are due to hit the ore within 60 days. When we begin to ship ore you can't buy the stock from the company at any price. This offer is made for two weeks only—from May 7 to May 21. After that the price goes up.

We'll Help You

If you help us. We need the money to install a hoist on the ground. After that the stock goes to 10 cents at least, only enough being sold to meet actual running expenses. When we ship ore stock will be withdrawn from the market. Shafts are being sunk all around this property, and any of them striking ore adds to the value of our stock—aside from the chance of the Jolly Jane getting ore—and our values have increased from $2 at the surface to $31 plus at 60 feet. We don't expect to get shipping ore until we reach 150 feet, and this is a matter of but 30 days after we get our hoist. If you want to get in on the "ground floor" in the center of the lizanza Camp of Pioneer, this is your chance—if you take it now. Take $20 per month of the money you are "blowing in" for an other return than a headache the next morning, and make it work for you. For stock reservations or information write H. E. Davis, Secretary.

PARK OPENING

WILL FURNISH ALL SORTS OF UNIQUE AMUSEMENT.

List of Attractions, Which Will Be Seen There Next Week—Mr. Weaver Here.

Mr. E. W. Weaver, of the St. Louis Amusement company, will arrive in this city this evening for the purpose of completing all the preliminary arrangements for the appearance of his attractions at the opening of Wallace park which occurs next Monday May 17, and the festivities in connection of which are to continue through out the entire week.

This park opening is different from anything that has ever been attempted at the park before and promises strongly to inaugurate a most successful park season. This opening week is to be made a special event and Mr. Weaver has contracted to furnish the following series of free attractions to be presented during the week, viz.: A balloon ascension and parachute drop every afternoon; a "leap-the-gap" bicycle act every afternoon and every night; a big fireworks display on Wednesday night and an illuminated night balloon ascension and parachute drop on some one night to be selected. In addition to these attractions, which are to be absolutely free to the public, two bands will render concerts during the week—Vincent's Italian band playing every afternoon and night and Den's band playing every night. Besides the free attractions to be presented there will be a number of pay attractions such as Jay's country circus, Elton's London ghost show, an excellent plantation show, etc., which will be located at the lower end of the park and at what will be termed "The Esplanade." Vincent's band will play on "The Esplanade," while Den's band will play at the new band stand on the hill.

A huge Ferris wheel, a gorgeous English "ocean wave," an elegant merry-go-round and a number of minor amusement devices, such as novelty bowling alley, Japanese hall game, baby rack, etc., will offer entertainment to all who desire such

In the Casino the Lyric Dramatic company, an excellent theatrical organization, will present a series of high-class plays.

South American Napoleons.
The dictatorship of thistro has been compared with that of President Franklin, who terrorized Paraguay for over thirty years. Franklin was a worshiper of Napoleon, whom he endeavored to imitate in every possible way. He only possessed one portrait of his idol—a German caricature, which depicted the emperor wearing an exaggerated version of the famous gray overcoat. Franklin took this picture seriously, and for many years paraded the streets of Asuncion clad in a gray dressing gown and a cocked hat, which he fondly believed to be the habitual garb of the French despot.

Castro's most distinguished predecessor was also a Napoleon devotee; but Bolivar had seen his idol and could thus imitate him more faithfully. He managed to acquire the emperor's brisquet and other mannerisms, pulled people's ears when in a good humor and dictated dispatches to several secretaries at once. He founded an order closely modeled on the Legion of Honor; surrounded himself with a guard of negroes from Haiti, after the style of Napoleon's Mamelukes and endeavored to codify the laws of his country. When he returned to America after witnessing Napoleon's coronation Bolivar entered Caracas standing in a Roman chariot drawn by twelve mules belonging to the first families of the town.—London Chronicle.

MURRAY TOWN COW MEETS WATERLOO

Her Friends Utterly Routed
at City Primary.

Callaway County Republicans Nominate Candidates for Three Offices.

THEY HAVE FINE PROSPECTS.

Murray, Ky., May 10. (Special).—The town cow met her Waterloo at the election held Saturday to nominate city officers, the candidates for city councilmen supported by those who favored the cows running at large being overwhelmingly defeated. E. A. Hughes was nominated to succeed himself as mayor over J. B. Hay by two votes. W. F. Peterson won for police judge over E. N. Hollaud by 9 votes. S. P. Simpson, who has been judge for 15 years, ran third. The councilmen nominated are E. S. Duiguid, J. E. Owen, R. E. Clayton, J. D. Howlett, Tom Morris and D. W. Dick. All are representative business men.

Republican Ticket.
The three announced candidates for county office having no opposition, the Republican county committee met Saturday and declared them nominated, the ticket being as follows: County Judge, Thomas W. Patterson; sheriff, Charles L. Jordan; jailer, Richard Langston.

Friends of the candidates feel confident of their success at the polls owing to the factional differences which have completely disrupted the Democratic party in Callaway county.

Most Famous Baby Face Dead.

Chicago, May 10.—Four-year-old Paul Maurice Monfort, who was killed by falling through a window of a southside elevated train to the sidewalk on Sixty-third street, was known among his friends as "the most photographed boy in America."

His father, A. W. Monfort, is a photographer, who does a large amount of commercial work, and whenever a firm wished a baby boy's picture to advertise its goods, Mr. Monfort used his little son as a model.

Some of the firms using the boy's picture are national advertisers and thus the happy face of the lad looked from street cars, newspapers, magazines and billboards upon residents of hundreds of cities and towns.

In one of his most widely known poses the boy is smiling as a brand of talcum powder is shaken over him. In another pose he is playing with a safety razor and laughing. Millions of persons have seen his picture taken while seated upon a tin bath tub amusing himself with a cake of soap.

Bucket Shows Are Guilty.
Cincinnati, O., May 10.—The jury in the case of Louis W. Foster and five others, who were charged with using the mails to defraud in the running of a so-called "bucket shop," returned a verdict of guilty in the United States district court here.

The men found guilty are Louis W. Foster, John Gorman, W. J. Campbell, A. C. Baldwin, John M. Scott and Edwin F. Hill.

The penalty is a fine of from $1,000 to $5,000, eighteen months in the penitentiary, or both.

Judge Miller Outcall, attorney for the defense, gave notice that he would file a motion for a new trial. In the meantime the defendants are given their liberty under bond.

NOT DRUGS

Food Did It.

After using laxative and cathartic medicines from childhood a case of chronic and apparently incurable constipation yielded to the scientific food, Grape-Nuts, in a few days.

"From early childhood I suffered with such terrible constipation that I had to use laxatives, continuously going from one drug to another and suffering more or less all the time."

"A prominent physician whom I consulted told me the muscles of the digestive organs were partially paralyzed and could not perform their work without help of some kind, so I have tried at different times about every laxative and cathartic known, but found no help that was at all permanent. I had finally become discouraged and had given my case up as hopeless when I began to use the pre-digested food, Grape-Nuts."

"Although I had not expected this food to help my trouble, to my great surprise Grape-Nuts digested immediately from the first and in a few days I was convinced that this was just what my system needed."

"The bowels performed their functions regularly and I am now completely and permanently cured of this awful trouble."

"Truly the power of scientific food must be unlimited." "There's a Reason."

Internal Commerce Reported by Gov- ernment Bureau For March, 1909.

Washington, May 10.—Internal commerce movements during March, as reported to bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor, indicate a heavy lumber movement to consuming centers, due apparently to increased building activity in the larger cities. The soft coal, coke and pig iron trades, on the other hand, showed slackening tendencies. The March shipments of hard coal were unusually large in view of impending labor difficulties.

Livestock receipts during March at seven primary interior markets, 3,271,390 head, show considerable increases over March, 1908 and 1907, figures of 3,379,678 and 3,088,978 head. All the larger centers, with the exception of St. Joseph and St. Paul, show figures in excess of those recorded for March, 1908. The increase is due to larger receipts during the month of cattle, hogs and sheep. Receipts at the same markets during the first quarter of the year, 1909, 10,449,993 head, were about 10 per cent below the corresponding receipts in 1908. Chicago, Kansas City, Omaha and St. Joseph show considerable losses for the quarter, primarily under the head of cattle, but also under the head of hogs and calves. The calculated number of cars used in transporting the total number of livestock to market for the first quarter of the year, 178,915, was below corresponding totals in 1908 and 1907 of 200,434 and 188,682 cars, respectively, though the number of cars for March, 61,904, compares favorably with the March number for the preceding two years.

Shipments during the month of packing house products from Chicago, 161,456,467 pounds, show a decided decrease when compared with March, 1908 and 1907, figures of 200,450,012 and 199,525,571 pounds. The largest losses in shipments are shown by fresh beef, lard, hides and canned meats, while cured meats and pork show larger totals than for March, 1908. Shipments for the first quarter of the year, 501,636,703 pounds, were about 20 per cent below the corresponding 1908 and 1907 figures, due mainly to losses in the shipments of fresh beef, cured meats, hides, lard and canned meats. The smaller shipments of canned meats from Chicago correspond fairly well with the diminished export demand for the article.

The eastward trunk-line movement of provisions during the month from Chicago and Chicago-Junction points, 60,396 net tons, shows a similar decrease as compared with corresponding 1908 and 1907 figures of 119,032 and 111,519 net tons. A considerable though not so heavy a decrease is also shown by the quarterly figures of the movement, 230,581 net tons, which were about one-fourth less than those reported for the first three months of the two preceding years.

Livestock.
Livestock receipts during the month at four principal Atlantic seaboard cities, 677,596 head, were considerably below like receipts during March, 1908. Smaller totals are shown for the arrivals of all classes of animals, chiefly hogs. The total for the first quarter of the year, 2,260,254 head, likewise shows a considerable shrinkage when compared with the corresponding 1908 totals of 2,499,815 head, the decrease being due to smaller receipts of hogs.

Grain.
Grain receipts during the month at 14 interior markets aggregated 63,856,131 bushels, compared with 63,291,262 bushels received during March, 1908. Of the total receipts 15,867,844 bushels were wheat; 23,270,939 bushels corn; 16,028,289 bushels oats; 7,997,157 bushels barley and 691,902 bushels rye. Smaller receipts of corn and oats were compensated by larger receipts of barley. Receipts of flaxseed, 643,705 bushels, not comprised in the above grand total, show a large decrease as compared with the monthly figures of the two preceding years. Larger wheat receipts for the month at Chicago and Duluth and smaller wheat receipts at Minneapolis are a distinctive feature of the wheat situation. Grain receipts for the first quarter of the year at the same markets aggregated 166,732,657 bushels, compared with 177,234,940 bushels received during the first quarter of 1908, the largest losses occurring under the head of oats and wheat. The flour shipments during the month and first quarter of the year at 12 leading markets, 3,270,421 and 8,733,886 barrels, respectively, show but slight changes from last year's figures.

On Atlantic.
Grain and flour receipts for the month at four principal Atlantic ports, 14,755,168 bushels, indicate a heavier movement than the March, 1908, figures of 13,146,371 bushels, though falling far below the March, 1907, record of 22,563,762 bushels. Of the total, 1,907,657 bushels were wheat, 4,401,175 bushels corn, and 1,168,971 bushels flour. The total receipts for the first quarter of the year are given as 38,097,906 bushels, compared with 49,740,021 and 62,997,769 bushels for the first quarter in 1908 and 1907. While losses are shown in the receipts of all the principal grains, the shrinkage was the heaviest in the case of corn, the combined receipts of which, 9,885,999 bushels, were about 37 per cent below those for the first quarter of 1908. The lighter export movements from the ports in question, especially in wheat and flour, accounts largely for the smaller receipts.

Cotton.
Slight receipts during the month of cotton aggregated 766,598 bales, compared with 712,216 and 981,269 bales during March, 1908 and 1907. The season receipts since September 1, 11,395,846 bales, while considerably in excess of the corresponding 1907-8 receipts of 9,926,065 bales, are not quite so high as the corresponding 1906-7 figures of 12,034,601 bales. The same is true of the port receipts for the season of 8,654,284 bales. The takings of American mills for the season are given as 3,897,418 bales, a total higher than that reported for the preceding two seasons. While the season takings of the northern mills, 2,189,996 bales, are considerably higher than those of the southern mills, the quantities credited for the month to southern mills were larger than those credited to northern mills. American stocks at the end of the month were 1,282,593 bales, compared with 1,031,257 and 1,411,691 bales reported at the end of March, 1908 and 1907.

Lumber.
The lumber movement in various parts of the country shows heavy gains for the month as compared with the abnormally low figures for March, 1908. The shipments of pine lumber from the Mississippi and Wisconsin

For instance it is shown that the total number of negroes in the year 1890 as 1 million, speaking in round terms, and in 1900, 8,841,000. The negroes formed in 1890, 18.88 per cent of the population; in 1900, 19.03 per cent; in 1890, 15.08 per cent; in 1890, 14.12 per cent; in 1890, 12.11 per cent; in 1890, 11.92 per cent; and in 1900, 11.59 per cent.

Figures of population and immigration, supplied respectively by the census bureau, the immigration bureau, and the treasury department records of immigration prior to the establishment of the bureau of immigration, show that the total number of immigrants coming into the United States since 1820, the year of earliest record, exceeds 26 million; during the fiscal years 1905, 1906 and 1907 the number averaged more than 1 million per annum. The total number of persons of foreign birth living in the United States at the last census, 1900, was 10,460,000, forming 13.7 per cent of the total population, while in 1890 the persons of foreign birth formed 14.8 per cent of the total population; in 1880, 13.3 per cent; in 1870, 11.4 per cent; in 1860, 13.2 per cent; and in 1850, 9.7 per cent.

The total continental area, including Alaska, is about that of all Europe, that while the area conceded to the thirteen original states by the peace treaty of 1783 was $28,000 square miles their present area is but 326,000 square miles, the other 502,000 square miles forming in whole or in part thirteen other states, while the remaining 24 states and territories were created from territory added by purchase or annexation. Of the 88 millions of population occupying this area practically one-third, speaking in round terms, are found in the thirteen original states, another third in the states created from the territory ceded to the common union by those states, and the remaining third in the area added by purchase or annexation.

While a large share of the territory of the United States has come under cultivation or individual ownership, the figures quoted in this volume show the amount of land areas still unappropriated and unreserved in 1908 was 754,895,000 acres, of which 365,022,000 acres were in Alaska, 61,177,000 in Nevada, 46,532,000 in Montana, 44,778,000 in New Mexico, and 42,769,000 in Arizona. Swamp and overflow lands are shown to aggregate in round terms 75 million acres, of which 18 1/2 million are in Florida, 9 1/2 million in Louisiana, 6 million in Mississippi, and 5 1/2 million in Arkansas.

"Paducah must be a mighty dirty town," The Sun says that a thousand loads of trash collected from Paducah premises will never be missed.—Owensboro Enquirer.

It's a big town; and then it is not so much attached to its dirt as Owensboro, perhaps.

Two columns does seem limited space to a man, when he has a lot of explaining to do, but even that hardly justifies him in referring to the effort as a "few brief remarks."

TO PUNISH HUSBAND.

Wife of Elopement Minister Has Declared on Revenge.

Louisville, Ky., May 10.—Mrs. Perry Campbell, wife of the eloping shepherd of the flock at Stirling Ground, Ky., who was arrested in St. Louis with Josie Hensley, one of his choir singers, announced that her husband's former congregation had raised money for her aid. She will rent and keep a rooming house for the education of her 4-year-old son and for her own maintenance. "I have decided on a fit punishment for my husband," said Mrs. Campbell. "He wants me to secure a divorce, but I shall refuse. He must remain in his present relation to me."

MOURNER'S BENCH WILL NOW BECOME MORE POPULAR

Because the colored church at Seventh and Ohio streets was condemned several months ago by the general council, efforts to make interest in a revival in progress at the church have been hard. Many of the colored citizens have been afraid to attend the services although the pastor explained to them that repairs had been made, and that the building was safe. He said there were many people who needed the religion, but they remained away from the meetings because they made use of the expression that "the church might fall down." The pastor appealed to Fire Chief Wood, who has inspected the church and has found that the repairs have placed it in safe condition, for his audiences.

Race Suicide in Chicago.

Chicago, May 10.—To three of the large fashionable women's clubs of Chicago the stark in the past year has paid one visit, and only one. The West End Woman's club, with a membership of 360, boasts of only one "club baby" for the year, and the same is true of the Chicago Culture club, with 350 members, and the Social Economics club, a South Side organization, whose members number 125. This startling commentary on the birth rate among fashionable women was disclosed following the receipt of a dispatch from Omaha stating that of the 400 members of the Omaha Woman's club, only one had become a mother during the last year.

CROP OUTLOOK IS GROWING BRIGHT

Opinion of Henry Clews in Weekly Letter.

Famous Banker Continues in Optimistic Mood, Regarding Financial Conditions.

MONEY MARKET AND STOCKS.

New York, May 10. (Special.)

During the past few weeks the stock market has undergone a considerable advance. Some stocks are too high in view of their small returns to investors, while others are relatively low, having been neglected by both investment and speculative buyers. As a result we are likely to see more or less of the evening-up process in which medium grade investments, especially the better class of preferred industrials, may receive increased attention.

The industrial and commercial outlook continues satisfactory. In the steel trade activity has been especially noticeable, April proving a banner month for the receipt of orders. Building operations are particularly active in all of the large cities, and this factor in connection with demands from the railroads for structural material constitutes the chief reason for improvement in iron and steel. Our railroads, it must be remembered, have been pursuing a policy of rigid economy ever since the panic; and, now that earnings are improving and the money market is easy, conditions favor not only the making of repairs which have been delayed, but also the carrying out of various improvements and extensions which had previously been deferred. In all probability the railroads will be large buyers of materials for some time to come, which will certainly be an important element in business recovery. Bank clearings are already ample proof of the latter; returns for the first week in May showing an increase of over 17 per cent and these gains being well distributed over all sections of the country. Railroad earnings also show encouraging results, and the reports on forty-one roads for the third week in April showed a gain of nearly 12 per cent over last year. Still another evidence of business improvement is the diminishing number of failures; the total of which in April were only 990, compared with 1,300 in the same month of 1908, the volume of liabilities for the same periods being $16,000,000 and $24,000,000 respectively.

Crop Outlook.

Our crop outlook though not entirely satisfactory is distinctly more assuring than a month ago. The season is backward owing to the prevalence of cold weather, but with the approach of higher temperatures considerable improvement may be looked for. There is as yet nothing disturbing in the agricultural outlook, excepting the damage to winter wheat, which has been amply discounted; and as prices for farm products are still very high and likely to remain so for another crop year prospects favor another season of prosperity to the agricultural classes who form so important a constituency in our population. Wall street was pleased by the supreme court decision on the commodity clause; not so much from the fact that it favored certain corporations as that it imposed an important check upon the radical and socialistic attacks on capital. The courts are more firmly established than ever on the principle that property shall not be taken away from owners thereof without due process of law, and that all attempts at confiscatory action shall be prevented. As this is one of a series of decisions, which while tending to discourage the abuses of capital have stoutly defended property rights, its effect upon financial sentiment is important and sound.

Money Market.

The money market continues to show exceptional ease, loanable funds still being superabundant. As the crop demands are four months distant and business is not likely to show any great increase of activity until after mid-summer, there is little immediate prospect of larger demands for accommodation from these sources. On the other hand, there are conditions arising which suggest the possibility of somewhat firmer rates ere long, or at least that present abnormally low rates cannot continue indefinitely. Bank loans at New York have risen to the huge amount of $14,000,000,000, which is close to the highest on record. Our surplus reserve meanwhile is down to about $10,000,000, having steadily contracted as loans expanded. We have also to face the possibility of further gold exports because our merchandise shipments are small, while importations of various materials continue unusually heavy. It has been supposed that these large imports were entirely due to better business conditions. This is only true; a considerable portion of the large importations being due to the effort to anticipate tariff changes. Nevertheless, our international balances are in such condition as to render possible a considerable further outflow of gold. This situation is emphasized by the fact that the Canadian banks hold very large balances in this market, placing them in a position to take our gold whenever to their advantage. Yet another fact which must be taken into consideration is that several of our large railroad systems will soon be in the market with new bond issues, the present being an exceptional opportunity for such operations. Over $200,000,000 new issues were announced in April, one-half of which probably represented refunding operations, and further important issues are pending for similar purposes. The Panama loan has already been long deferred, and its issue may be further postponed by the fact that our treasury deficit is decreasing and has not reached the proportions once expected, owing to the increase of revenue arising from larger imports. Should the latter, however, decline when the tariff has been fully anticipated, it will be interesting to watch the course of national revenue. In Europe similar conditions of once prevalent, and there the demands upon capital are being emphasized by the large German and Spanish loans which will soon be forthcoming.

Taking the favorable and unfavorable conditions into consideration, the outlook is for an active market. Careful discrimination, however, should be made in all purchases, as while a good many stocks may reach still higher levels, there are others which for the time being having reached their zenith are likely to be weakened by inside selling, a process which has been going on under cover more freely than generally supposed. Speculation is likely to take up the possibilities of further money. Nevertheless the financial situation is one that warrants continued hopefulness.

KITSON'S STATUE

The Ciro Purdie process, which allows even the largest statues to be cast in one piece. The process of casting took six weeks, which considered professionally is very rapid work, as many foundries take months and months to do a similar job. When the plaster cast is finished a mould is made of it. From this a wax model is obtained. It is about 3/4 of an inch thick and the core of it is filled with some harder composition. The wax model can be retouched by the sculptor as much as he pleases. Then a mould of fire clay is made around it and connection with a core of rods. Then the wax form is melted out and the hot matter poured in from crucibles. After that the surface is cleaned and finally treated with chemicals to produce the desired color.

The Sculptor.

H. H. Kitson is considered one of the foremost sculptors of the younger generation. He was born in Huddersfield, England, one of those beautiful Yorkshire towns where first and good living are the natural order of the day. For a time he was an assistant to St. Gaudens and established himself at Boston after studying for a while at the Ecole des Beaux Arts, Paris.

During his stay in Paris he modeled a "Fisher Boy," holding a sea shell to his ear, listening to the sound of the sea. The sculptor was only 18 years old when he finished this delightful life size model, and it was considered such an extraordinary piece of work that it secured him a gold medal at the annual Salon Exhibition. When Rodin called on the young sculptor he exclaimed, "I don't know any other else who could make such a figure unless it were Carpeaux. You do not need to study any more, but simply do things." Young Kitson followed the advice and left the Beaux Arts school, where education was dry and stereotyped. He traveled about Europe and learned from what he saw far more than any school could teach him. Kitson is really a self-made artist.

Since his return from Europe he has filed many important orders. Among others a fountain for Providence, R. I., then the Collins Memorial for Boston with two exquisite figures representing "Eris and Columbia," and a monument of Gen. Steven D. Lee, for Vicksburg, Miss. At present he is engaged at a figure of The Puritan, for Salem, Mass., and a big equestrian monument of the color bearer for the town state monument. He has also made several notable busts, among others of the Rev. E. B. Hale, Walt Whitman and Wm. Morris Hunt. He has received three gold medals at the Boston M. C. M. association, a gold medal of honor at the American Art association, N. Y., and has been decorated with the royal order of the Merit from the king of Roumania for a bust of Carmen Sylva, the poetess. He also received Anty Drudge Gives More Reasons.

Little Eunice—"Boo Hoo! I had a pretty pink frock and mama cooked it and the pink all came out."

Mother—"I didn't know the color would fade or I shouldn't have boiled it along with the other clothes."

Anty Drudge—"Anything will fade, my dear, if it's boiled long enough. Boiling weakens the fabric and dissolves the dye. The best way is not to boil your clothes, but to wash them with Fels-Naptha in cool or lukewarm water. Fels-Naptha sets the colors instead of fading them, besides making the clothes wear longer. It also saves you time, work, bother and money."

There are cheaper laundry soaps than Fels-Naptha but no other so economical.

Sounds odd, doesn't it?

But it's true.

Fels-Naptha is more economical because it saves time, saves work, saves the cost of fuel and makes your clothes wear twice as long.

Fels-Naptha cleans your clothes in cool or lukewarm water in summer or winter without boiling or hot water to weaken their fabric, and without hard rubbing to wear them into holes.

It takes half as long and requires much less work than the old way.

Try it next washday.

See how white, and clean, and sweet Fels-Naptha makes your clothes.

gold medals at the Chicago world's fair and the Paris exposition in 1900. He is married to Theo. Alice Ruggles, who can claim to be the leading woman sculptor of America today.

The Milliner—Artist.

Little Malame Hyacinth (which is not her name), stood in the peach basket orchard she calls a millinery studio and smiled complacently as her caller gushed ecstatically. "Every hat in this shop is pretty," said one customer "and every one is becoming. Is it possible or am I dreaming? I had about given up hope of getting a hat of any kind this spring."

The little French modiste twirled a touque of sweet peas critically on one finger.

"I was shocked madame. I assure you I was shocked when I paid my first spring visit to the manufacturer," she said, "Such bowls and tubs and scrap-baskets—such enormities, and no means to keep them from obliterating the wearer from the world! Each atrocious tub or barrel came down to the tip of the nose. Is it lovelier or reason or art?" I asked myself. "To hide a woman's head and face by a basket? Is it common sense to turn a basket upside down and have the asparagus and peaches and lettuce clinging to the outside?" I looked at them all and bought a few—just a few, for the possible lunatics, madame, who are apt to come into any shop. But I put most of my money into straw braid, of which I have made most of the hats that I have sold this season.

"I modified the freak shapes and beautified the rational forms. I flatter myself that I was right. Never in a given time have I sold so many hats. All my regular customers and many strangers and customers of my rivals on the block above and on the block below. They came in discouraged and weary. They had tried all the high shops and they had found freaks. They tried the small shops and found frights. Eh, bien, they arrived here and behold, I was able to give them something that looked like a hat and did not hide their good points.

"Oh, madame," said one pretty young woman, "I have hulk of a pleasant color and not bad eyes and yet must I hide these, my only beauties, and expose my chin and the tip of my nose, neither of which I care much for."

"And I said to her: 'No milliner who brings out the bad points and conceals the good points of a customer is an artist. You shall have a rolling brim and a bandeau, and you shall not be out of fashion, either.' These things can be done. One can compromise with the mode. One can make concessions with proportions and dimensions of crowns, and cut off an inch here and add an inch there; the object being always to make a becoming background or a sympathetic frame for the face and the head of the wearer.

"The fashion this spring has been for no hands. Two-thirds of the hats I have sold have had bands in. In every case I added them after the customer had tried the effect with and without a band. These things can be done no matter how frunkish the fashion, madame—if one is an artist!"—New York Globe.

WE are showing the biggest value for $2 in a straw hat you can find anywhere. It is made of a good quality of straw, and in the popular shapes of the higher price hats. Of course, if you wish better hats, we have them. One thing, you will always find the best hat here for the money you can anywhere.

Wilson and Wheat Pit

Chicago, May 10.—"Speculators have agents in the wheat fields, giving out erroneous reports for business reasons. Agents there make money for somebody," said Secretary Wilson today. "I'm not mentioning names, but wish to impress on the people that the government agents give the only trustworthy reports." James A. Patten also was here today. He said he was anxious to get back in the "game."

It is reported this morning that leading wheat bears, fearing another big rise in wheat as the result of Patten's renewed activity, are preparing today to appeal to Secretary Wilson to aid them in the fight against the bull. It is said they asked Wilson to visit the pit personally and investigate the Patten "corner."

Patten's first move in the wheat pit today after his return was to unload a large quantity of July wheat. He caused a break of 1 1/2 cents and a break of 3/4 in May. Trade is not active. Brokers apparently are waiting to see which way the cat will jump. When Patten saw how his sales affected the market he came up.

Striking a Match.

"It's a woman," said Leeco, the detective, heatedly. "We're on the trail."

"It looks like a man to me," the reporter murmured.

"But didn't you notice how she struck that match?" said Leeco. "She struck it away from her—a sure sign of her sex. Men always strike matches toward them."

After the arrest of the suspect—a woman, sure enough—Leeco amplified his match statement. "It is to house," he said. "All of us unconsciously strike matches toward what we are going to light. Women always is going to light a lamp or a fire—that is, further off than the match—so she strikes her match away from her. But man is always going to light a pipe or cigarette—that is nearer, so he strikes his match toward him."

MOTHER'S FRIEND

EVOLUTION IN NESTS.

Birds Make Changes According to Circumstances.

The evolution of birds' nests begins with those birds that do not build any nests, but simply deposit their eggs in the bare ground. Then comes those which make rudimentary preparations for the reception of their eggs, and finally those which construct nests so remarkable as to rival the products of the weaver's art.

In these the work of reconstruction requires superlative activity and perseverance. The beak and claws are used as veritable tools. The nests are designed not only to provide shelter for the young, as birds sometimes build them for mere recreation and also as habitations during the winter season.

In Australia the Chlamydera maculata have peculiar nests. They frequent the brush which surrounds the plains and construct their nests with amazing skill, supporting the framework by a foundation of stones, and transporting from the banks of streams and water courses at a considerable distance the numerous ornamental objects which they dispose at the entrance of the nests. There is no doubt in the mind of Prof. Aristides Mestre that birds modify and improve their nests both as to form and material when circumstances have arisen which require such a change.

Many years ago Poudrat gathered swallows' nests from the window sills and had them placed in the collection of the Natural History Museum at Rouen. Forty years later he sought for similar nests and was astonished to find that the newly collected nests showed a real change in their form and arrangement. These nests were from a new quarter of the city and showed a mixture of the old and new types. Of the forms described by naturalists of earlier periods he found no trace. For Poudrat the new type of construction marked a distinct advance. The new nests were better adapted to the needs of the young brood and protected them better from their enemies and from cold or inclement weather.

In Cuba there are nests made altogether of palm fibers, marvelously intertwined and attached close to the tufts of the palms or under the clusters of bananas or mangoes.

This nest is built both by the male and female bird. They perforate the small leaves of the palm and pass threads through the holes so as to form a species of rope, by which the nest is suspended. It has been said that an old bird and a young bird build the nest together. This shows the existence of a kind of apprenticeship, which constitutes an additional argument against the theory that blind instinct animates the bird in building their nests.—Chicago Tribune.

In Ancient Days.

It was at the great battle of Actium. "Undone!" gasped Cleopatra, from her position at the bow of the ship. "Undone!" "Great Caesar!" signaled the startles Antony. "Has an enemy betrayed us?"

"Worse than that, Mark. There are two buttocks off my waist in the back. I have just seen them in my hand mirror and I could never think of going through the battle in such a condition. Ho, slaves, back to Egypt!"

This was the real reason why the ship of Cleopatra was seen to withdraw from action and retreat under full sail.—Chicago News.

CHURCHMEN HOLD 121ST ASSEMBLY

Presbyterians of United States Ready for Meeting.

Barkley, of Detroit, and McEwan, of Pittsburgh, Believed to Be in the Lead.

THE FIGHT FOR MODERATOR.

Denver, Col., May 10.—The 121st meeting of the Presbyterian assembly of the United States of America, to convene in this city on the morning of May 20, will be the largest in the history of the denomination.

The commissioners will number more than 1,000 with as many more visitors, representing 250 presbyteries, thirty-six synods, in almost all the states and territories of the Union and there will be delegates from India, Siam, Corea and other foreign lands.

The secretaries of all the boards and agencies of the church will be present, and every cause will be represented by its ablest speaker. Several commissioners hold high offices in the nation and in several states, and not for many years has there been an assembly with so many prominent and picked men. Many of the commissioners are distinguished lawyers, sent up because of the legal complications caused by the recent decision of the supreme court of Tennessee, holding all the property of the Cumberland church for the anti-slaveryists.

The campaign for moderator of the assembly, the highest office within the gift of the Presbyterian church, is running warm, and there are already more candidates in the field than ever before, and the friends of the several candidates are carrying on a busy correspondence with the commissioners in the interest of their favorites.

So far the list is as follows: The Rev. Robert McKenzie, D. D., of New York, recently elected president of the San Francisco Theological seminary; the Rev. William L. McEwan, D. D., pastor of the Third Presbyterian church of Pittsburgh; the Rev. James M. Barkley, D. D., of Detroit; the Rev. Howard Agnew Johnson, D. D., of Colorado Springs, Col.; the Rev. E. P. Hill, D. D., of Chicago, and the Rev. Mark A. Matthews, D. D., of Seattle, Wash.

Justice John M. Harlan, of the United States supreme court has been withdrawn on account of the indisposition of the assembly to break traditions and elect a layman.

Chances of the Candidates. A careful estimate places the Rev. Dr. Barkley, of Detroit, and the Rev. Dr. McEwan, of Pittsburgh, in the lead, with the chances in favor of Dr. Barkley. He received the exceptional compliment of an election as the head of his delegation by acclamation, and he has been assured of the undivided support of the synods of Michigan and Wisconsin, and he is also promised strong support in many other synods.

Dr. Barkley came close to being elected three years ago and is well known all over the church. He served with distinction four years as a soldier in a North Carolina regiment of the Confederate army, and he will have large support from the old soldiers of both the "blue and the gray" who will be commissioners in the assembly. Dr. McEwan, of Pittsburgh was also chosen as the head of the delegation from the largest presbytery in the Presbyterian church, and his name will be placed before the assembly by Chancellor Samuel B. McCormick, D. D., of the University of Pittsburgh, one of the leading orators of the church, who made the famous speech at Los Angeles nominating the Rev. Dr. William Henry Roberts, who withdrew and allowed the Rev. Dr. Robert F. Coyle, of Denver, to become moderator.

Dr. McEwan will receive the solid support of the synods of Missouri, Kentucky, and most of the eastern commissioners, who feel as the pres-moderator, the Rev. Walter P. Fullerton, D. D., is from St. Louis. Dr. Fullerton will open the assembly with a sermon on the great opening for the church in the south and southwest, after which the election of his successor will take place.

Caucuses and Electorates. Caucuses and combinations of all kinds are possible on the evening before. Last year the Rev. Dr. Matthews, of Seattle, was induced to withdraw with assurances that he would have a good chance this year, but such promises are not likely to be fulfilled, as every assembly consists of a new body of commissioners.

The evening before the assembly convenes will be devoted to a large mass meeting in the interest of foreign missions, when addresses will be made by missionaries from the foreign field.

All the boards of the church will pass in annual inspection.

The movement for consolidation of some of the boards will again come before the assembly through an overture on the subject from the presbytery of Cleveland, and by its influence from several other presbyteries.

Action will be taken with reference to the Tennessee decision on the matter of the property of the Cumberland church, and the drift already it to recognize the decision respectfully and assist the union party to build new churches, which in many cases were badly needed.

Arrangements have been made for many excursions to the Garden of the Gods, the canons of the region, Pike's Peak, Manitou Springs, the Georgetown loop, and at the close of the assembly to the Alaskan-Yukon exposition at Seattle.

Kills Her Foe of 20 Years.

"The most merciless enemy I had for 20 years," declares Mrs. James Duncan, of Haystack, Me., "was Dyspepsia. I suffered intensely after eating or drinking and could scarcely sleep. After many remedies had failed and several doctors gave me up, I tried Electric Bitters, which cured me completely. Now I can eat anything. I am 70 years old and am overjoyed to get my health and strength back again." For indigestion, Loss of Appetite, Kidney Trouble, Lame Back, Female Complaints, it's unequalled. LEE TURNER INVENTOR.

Former "Blind Tiger" Proprietor Perfects a "T" Rail Joint.

Middleboro, Ky., May 10.—Lee Turner, the "hero of the Quarter-house battle," is again in the limelight, this time, however, as an inventor. Turner became interested in the invention of a coal miner at the Excelsior mines, the invention being a joint for a "T" rail. Turner worked with the inventor of the original article, and the result is that they have perfected what is believed to be a meritorious invention.

Mastian Wireless at Work? Recently the operators in San Francisco have found themselves in receipt of strange messages in an unknown code. Some days ago the operators on Mt. Wilson were surprised at the vast increase in strength of the messages received in this unknown code. It was noticed that the message came at regular intervals, and that the sending force must have been from instruments possessed of much greater power than any known to be owned in this country or in Japan, and, stranger still, the intensity of the message and its clearness increased as the operators ascended the mountain. On the mountain top the crashes of the sending apparatus came in many times stronger than the record of instruments at Los Angeles, the nearest station having powerful instruments. The question, in this unintelligible language of the air, came again and again. It seemed a repetition of the same query. Was it Mars talking to us? Why not?—San Francisco News Letter.

CO-LABORERS WITH GOD ARE PEOPLE

Bishop H. C. Morrison at Fountain Avenue.

Says That World Was Created With Eye to Partnership—The Part of Man.

STRONG SERMON YESTERDAY.

Bishop Henry Clay Morrison, of central Florida, delivered a strong sermon at the Fountain Avenue Methodist church yesterday morning. Bishop Morris left early this morning for his home in Florida and will prepare for a trip to Brazil. He will carry on two conferences in Brazil and will return in September.

His subject yesterday was "God's Partnership With Us." Text, First Corinthians 3-9. "We Are Laborers Together With God."

The text announces labor union of God with men. Man is at work on the earth, God is at work in and through it. By his co-working with God man produces that on which he lives in this life and gets the development necessary for another life. The church is the divine training school in which we are educated and trained for a higher knowledge and grander realities for future life.

God could have made this earth all that we have helped make it. He could have placed the marble ready polished in the palace walls as easily as to have placed it fathoms deep in the quarry. He could have spread the meadows with its velvet finish as easily as to have made the tangled wilderness, out of which the meadow is evolved. He could have made Paducah all that we have made it and perhaps given it some esthetic touches that we have not given it. But he created with an eye to partnership.

Partnership with man was the divine intention. What was the motive in this partnership? Certainly not to make off us anything but to make out of us all that was possible. No business man ever wants a bankrupt as a partner; but it is one of the wonders of grace that God associates himself with hosts of bankrupts. He came into partnership with us when we were without God or hope. "He who was rich, yet for our sakes became poor, that we through his poverty might be rich." God furnishes all the capital stock in this partnership. He gives the soil, land, and seed and sunshine and rain, and then calls us to sow and reap and gather in harvest. Hence we are not stockholders, but co-laborers with God.

The great railroad monopoly, representing millions, never furnished so much as a rail, a tie, a spike, an ounce of coal, or square inch of steam—God furnishes all the capital stock. So in the Christian character, all the elements come to us through the incarnation. As the apple clings to the stem while the tree furnishes all the elements to its life, so we by faith, clinging to Christ, receive through him the elements of divine life.

Then, if we are laborers together with God, what is our part of the work? What is the one great work of the church?

That work is to save men and the church that is not saving men is a failure.

Again, if we are laborers together with God, what have we accomplished? Have you won so much as a single soul for Christ? If not, then when are you going to do your work?

You pass through this life but once perhaps you are almost through now, and if may be little accomplished shall we suffer the remaining time to run to waste?

Let us awake to a sense of our responsibility and improve the time left us, lest we stand empty handed in the final day, when God shall call the laborers to pay them their hire.

Offerings Light at Louisville, Louisville, Ky., May 10.—The local tobacco breaks last week were about as small as has ever been known. The movement of tobacco is limited and present indications are not favorable to a more active condition until the new crop begins to move. The lack of offerings is due entirely to the scarcity of tobacco in farmers' hands.

Total offerings last week aggregated 635 bbls. of which 32 were new burley, 268 old burley, 235 new dark and 10 old dark. The offerings at auction were 54 bbls. of burley and a few bbls. of dark. The burley market was so small that a definite line on prices could not be obtained.

In the dark market there appeared to be a better demand for rebanding grades, especially short and common leaf, which were 1/4c higher. In fact, the market for dark tobacco was fairly strong all around.

ALBERT PFYFFER

NATIVE OF SWITZERLAND DIES AT RIVERSIDE.

Well Known Miller, Long Time Resident of Lovelaceville—Mrs. Kate McNett.

Mr. Albert Pfyffer, 56 years old, a resident of Lovelaceville and a native of Switzerland, died Saturday night at 10:30 o'clock at Riverside hospital after a six weeks' illness of dropsy. Mr. Pfyffer was a miller by trade and had been employed at the mill of Mr. D. E. Stahl, of Lovelaceville, for the last six years. He was a single man and was born and reared in Switzerland. He came to this country when he was 21 years old and located in the south and resided in Texas before coming to Lovelaceville. Mr. Pfyffer was able to carry on a conversation in four different languages.

Mr. Pfyffer was taken to the hospital last Wednesday afternoon and it was then known that death would soon follow. He has relatives living in Chicago. A telegram was received from Albert Schild, of Chicago, a nephew, this morning stating that he would leave for Paducah this morning and would make all the funeral arrangements. The body was taken from the hospital to Nance & Rogers, undertakers, and embalmed and prepared for burial.

Mrs. Kate McNett. Word has been received in Paducah of the death of Mrs. Kate McNett, 52 years old, at her home in Lakeland, Fla. Mrs. McNett lived in Paducah for many years, but last October went to Florida to reside. Last Tuesday she was stricken with a stroke of paralysis. Her body will be brought to Paducah and the burial will take place in Oak Grove cemetery tomorrow afternoon, the Rev. D. C. Wright officiating. Mrs. McNett was born in Louisville, but was married in Paducah in 1876. Mrs. William Clark, of the city, is her daughter.

Strikers Were Quiet.

Chicago, May 10.—The first day of the carriage drivers' strike passed quietly. All funerals were guarded by the police who had orders to arrest any one showing an inclination to interfere with the men driving the carriages.

"Time's Flight Turned Backward" SAGE AND SULPHUR Made Her look Twenty Years Younger

READ MRS. HERRICK'S SWORN STATEMENT

STATE OF New York } ss. Rochester, N. Y.

Nancy A. Herrick, being duly sworn, deposes and says: "When I was a school girl I had a head of heavy, long, dark brown hair, that was so plentiful, rich and glossy, that it was the envy of many of my young schoolmates, and attracted the attention and remarks of strangers. After I was married and as I grew older, my hair commenced to come out just a little at first, but gradually as time passed it came out more and more, and began to turn gray. I was induced by many good reports heard of Sage and Sulphur, to try a bottle. My hair was quite gray and thin on top when I commenced using Sage and Sulphur, and you may imagine my satisfaction when I found that it was fast coming back to its natural condition, becoming thicker, darker, smoother and glossier than it had been for a long time. I continued the use of Sage and Sulphur and my hair is now in a splendid condition, as heavy and as dark and smooth as when I was a girl of sixteen. From my experience I believe it is one's own fault if they lose their hair, or let it get gray or harsh. It is now four years since I commenced using Sage and Sulphur, and still use it, and my hair still keeps thick, dark, smooth and glossy."

AT THE CHURCHES

Change at St. Francis de Sales.

St. Francis de Sales Catholic church has had a complete change of pastors, as yesterday the assistant pastor, the Rev. Father A. J. Bishop was transferred to Louisville. He left today at noon for Louisville, where he will be assistant father to the Rev. Father Louis Ohle, of St. Martin's Catholic church. He will be succeeded in Paducah by the Rev. Father George Connor, who has been stationed in Owensboro. The Rev. Father Bishop has been in Paducah about two months as assistant to the Rev. Father H. W. Jansen, of St. Francis de Sales church, and in charge of the Catholic churches in the vicinity of Paducah. He is a man of learning, and in his short stay in Paducah made many friends. The transfer of the Rev. Father Bishop will make a complete change of pastors of St. Francis de Sales church in two weeks. The Rev. Father George Connor will arrive from Owensboro this evening to assist the Rev. Father Connolly.

The Rev. C. E. Jackson conducted the regular services at the Tenth Street Christian church to large congregations, considering the bad weather.

The revival service closed with the service last night at Little's chapel. During the two weeks the service continued in charge of the Rev. T. J. Owen, assisted last week by the Rev. John Darling, of Livingston county, there were 12 additions to the church, 33 conversions and a general revival. The Rev. John Darling returned home this morning. The Rev. T. J. Owen conducted the regular service at the Third Street Methodist church yesterday morning to a large congregation considering the bad weather.

Mothers' Day was appropriately observed yesterday at the Kentucky Avenue Presbyterian church. A strong sermon was delivered yesterday morning by the Rev. J. H. Henry, pastor, on the subject, "Our Mothers." The church was beautifully decorated with the white carnations, the emblem for Mothers' Day. Hundreds of citizens wore a white carnation yesterday in honor of their mothers. Traveling men especially wore white carnations.

The Rev. William Grother, pastor of the German Lutheran church, conducted English services both morning and evening yesterday and English service in the country in the afternoon. The work of remodeling the church and making it larger will begin the first of this week. Services will be conducted in the school house while the church is being repaired.

Words were not minced by the Rev. J. R. Clark, pastor of the North Twelfth Street Baptist church, last night in his description of "Old Paducah and New Jerusalem Contrasted." In fact, he could not find any common point between the two cities, and he described them as two different cities, putting Paducah in the class of Sodom and other wicked cities of history.

Regular services were held yesterday at the Broadway Methodist church. The Rev. G. T. Sullivan preached a strong sermon both morning and night. Miss Mabel Shelton sang a beautiful offertory at the morning hour. The Rev. Dr. Bruner, of Louisville, spoke in the interest of the Children's Home society at Louisville. Four names were received for church membership.

Choral responses to the prayers were sung for the first time in Grace Episcopal church last night, and the boy choir comported itself excellently.

Dr. D. C. Wright's sermon at night was on the business man as a church worker. His text was Luke xiv. 28, "For which of you, intending to build a tower, sitteth down and counteth the cost?"

He spoke of the repeated references of Christ to the distracting influences of riches, and the figures he employed, emphasizing the care given to earthly affairs by the exact, successful business man. Not one of Christ's apostles were of this character. Dr. Wright then briefly sketched the history of the church with relation to the men of affairs, and said that not until our day has the business man entered heartily into church work, and America is leading. The business men, with the ministers as examples in right living, are displaying an intention to take up the church work, to raise money for spreading the gospel, to manage the organization and do much of the personal work. Dr. Wright said he considers this one of the signs of the time, portentous and optimistic.

Although the session was unsuccessful in securing a preacher for Sunday, because of a letter misarranging, services were held in the morning at the First Presbyterian church, Elder George B. Hart leading. Services will be held every Sunday morning, whether there is preaching or not, but an effort will be made to keep the pulpit supplied until a regular pastor is called.
